

small number of students who studied with them. These students whom they thus influenced often included some who had ability to express themselves well and a personality that could influence other. By the period from 1920 to 1930 enough of those who were influenced by this smaller group had themselves become teachers in ~~amex~~ colleges to make a very strong group in the colleges that was anxious to destroy our present system and to substitute something else. At that time readymade into their hands came the knowledge of the success of the revolution in Russia, and in American in the twenties 1920's there were thus a large number of men in positions in academic life who were strongly propagandizing for the Communistic system. In the period between 1930 and 1940 a number of these men became disillusioned and turned against Communism. There were was also a realization of the evils of Communism among Amer° people /in general which many turn away from their strong support of Communism, but while nevertheless while still retaining their dislike and opposition to the system. These men gradually trained others. Even though the universities in the next forty years the majority
