

this was brought up more specifically Dr. Geisler strongly opposed it, feeling that no one but members of the council should be at meetings of the council. I was interested in being at this meeting because it brought me up to date on some of the things I was thinking of and on some of the recent occurrences, though it does seem strange to have an Advisory Committee/~~which~~ ^{which} is not sent information about decisions or actions of the council, only of the joint meeting.

When Dr. Boice was here I asked how he as president of it, and the woman the staff consists of four women, I believe, in Oakland, California, and I asked how they handled things together, "Oh, " he said, "I go twice a year to Oakland, and," he said, "four times a year Mrs. what's-her-name comes here to see me."

It is quite a testimony to considerable ability on the part of some individuals in the leadership of the organization that an organization can work smoothly with its control at such a distance apart from each other. Of course they do have the meetings of the council twice a year at which their expenses are paid to go all to one place and meet for two or three days.

Last About the beginning of September

Previous ~~xxxxx~~ to last fall I had received information about the Inerrancy meetings. They were to be held in the ~~xxx~~ Hyatt Regency O'Hare in Chicago. People had been invited a couple of years before to write papers. There were about twenty papers on various subjects. For each ~~xx~~ paper someone was assigned to write the paper, and then two men were assigned to write the first and second responses to it. This was done a couple of ~~x~~ years ago. previously. The notices said that all who wrote papers would of course have all the expenses paid, papers or responses; that others were who would like to That would be about fifty people. Then there could be another 50 to come to the meetings and listen. These members of the Advisory Committee would be able to be among the 50 auditors if they chose. should choose desired to apply. Registration for each would be $50. Then ~~x~~ there would have to be the expenses at the hotel. The man from mid-America had told me that he had to pay $50 to stay overnight/ two years ago; Now -that rate
