

~~xxxxMachenx~~

took a proper attitude on this ~~xxx~~ point at all.

~~xxx~~ The year after Dr. Allis left Dr. Machen died on January 1. I got a letter from Dr. Allis speaking in the finest terms about Dr. ~~Machx~~ Machen's loyalty to the faith and what Dr. Machen had accomplished. When it came to the end of the year I <sup>had</sup> found myself in such disagreement with the rest of the faculty, primarily on the matter of premillennialism, though there were other things that entered in. In fact, for my last three years at Westminster I felt that my time was ~~wastx~~ really wasted and not accomplishing much for the Lord, although I did advance considerably in my knowledge during those years and had happy times in my actual teaching. <sup>The</sup> ~~/xxx~~ situation where I had to either <sup>and</sup> either to take a strong stand/~~xx~~ resign or be in a subordinate position in succeeding years with the students constantly being turned against me by others in the faculty. In this situation I rather publicly I publicly announced my resignation with the reasons for it- Although there ~~definitx~~ definite differences of idea on which Dr. Allis would have stood with the others rather than with me, in the matter of their attitude I felt that the same things were very definitely shown, particularly after my ~~resignation~~, the same attitudes that had much to do with his resignation<sup>1</sup>. Of course now it was in no sense on Dr. Machen's part; he was no longer living, but other members of the faculty carried them I think much further than Dr. Machen ever would have. Dr. Machen was very loyal to the members of his faculty. If one of them was under attack ~~forxxxxx~~ for anything he would very loyally and strongly ~~supportx~~ support him. I think he would have taken the same attitude toward me under attack--which I never was until I actually resigned, at least in any public way, under attack. I wrote a letter to Dr. Allis in which I told him I had resigned and I said that I did not go into details <sup>actually</sup> but simply said that it was/due to the matters, attitudes as had made it necessary for him to resign a year earlier.

I was very busy during that summer with the plans for starting Faith Seminary. I do not know of course who may have written Dr. Allis or who may have seen him when he first got ~~back~~ first he returned got back from Europe--what they may
