

Persian Empire. And Alexander the great found his communications greatly hindered by the attack by the forces from the island city of Tyre. And so he decided to destroy it, but he had force, but not much of a navy and it was pretty hard to get out there to that island. And so when Alexander decided to do this he had ingenuity characteristic of him, he sent out He sent out his men to work, taking the ruins of old and laying them in the water and as Ezekiel predicted here 300 years before, I will make thee like the top of a rock, they shall lay thy (End of C 28)

Begin C 29--- And there is no other case in the Bible where such a statement has been made of these cities, that they were hit by stones, and by timber and laid. But Ezekiel said (Static quite bad No 1) Now I want to take one other instance of this type and this is in the New Testament. It is from the book of Luke, where we read the prediction that our Lord made about the future of Jerusalem and there it is in the 21st chapter of Luke where we read the prediction of the destruction of Jerusalem which took place in 70 A. D. And after reading the account of the destruction there which took place 40 years after the time of Christ, in Luke 21, verse 20 to 23 we read, and they shall fall by the edge of the sword and shall be led away captive to all nations and Jerusalem shall be trodden down to the Gentiles and we find be fulfilled. Well forty years after the time of Christ it is fulfilled. And it was left pretty much a ruins by the Romans and gradually a few of the Jews, went back to it but they did not have much of a city there much of a what about the years later, What about 130 A. D., a group of seized the ruins of Jerusalem rebuilt a portion of the walls which were broken down and established themselves there under a man who called himself a son of Saul a Star or . And they were going to re-establish their freedom, re-establish the Jewish freedom even / declared he was the Messiah and he was followed by more. And the Romans came and attacked the city and beat the and the few walls that were left and rushed out of the city and escaped one day and on a hillside a few miles away
