

with the observations that we have. Theoretical assumptions have gone far beyond any actual basis of observation. Among the many different theories there is no clear basis on which to make a decisive judgment.

The article in the Newsweek makes the matter of cosmology seem simpler than actually is. Now the three theories that are ~~there~~ described there are summarized in the thinking of a number of scientists, but there ~~are~~ also have been in the last 30 years a substantial number of ~~with~~ others who have advanced entirely different theories to account for the origin and condition ~~of~~ of the universe as it is today. Outstanding among these we might

~~The Bible clearly reads~~ Is matter eternal? Or did ~~the~~ matter have a beginning? on its al basis The human mind ~~is~~ observation/or intuitive ~~method~~ is not in a position to make a decision on such questions as these. The Bible gives us an answer. ~~One~~ ~~who~~ One who knows Christ as Saviour and Lord recognizes that the Bible was ~~not~~ revelation of truth, and in it he finds the answer in a definite statement that the universe did have a beginning. The Bible declares that God has created all things. It does not, however, tell us how He created them. It does not tell us ~~how~~ whether he created ~~it~~ a tiny ball
