

an answer to these questions is to get a communication from someone who has gone through the experience; a revelation, a communication.

The only way we can tell ~~MMMM~~ anything about the beginning of this world is to get a communication, none of us was there. Scientists now tell us that probably there might have been an atomic explosion, with everything starting in one tiny point; and they say that within the space of half an hour all the elements that we have, all the chemical elements, may have been formed in half an hour; and since that time, they've been spreading out and forming new forms and new combinations ever since, but they were all formed in half an hour. Now that is a theory based on the fact that astronomy seems to show that the universe is shooting out in all directions at a rapid rate. But one philosopher to whom I said, "Here, then, is an evidence that seems to show that there was an original creation," said, "How do you know that that proves there was a creation?" He said, "Maybe there ~~MMM~~ is instead like an accordion: now it's going out, but formerly it came in! Maybe it's been going out and in like this for ever." ¶ Well, that just shows how difficult it is to tell by even scientific study what was, a million years ago; or what will be, a million years from now. You can make all kinds of theories, and you can't prove them. If we're going to ~~MM~~ know anything about the meaning of life, about the ~~MMMMMMMMMM~~ ultimate destiny, about its beginning, there's only one way to do it - to get a revelation from the ~~One who~~ made it, from the One who planned it, from the One who is directing it, from the One who is controlling it, from the One who ~~knows~~ knows where He is going to lead it.

We have believed for ~~MM~~ two thousand years, now, thousands of Christians have believed, that this Book constitutes such a revelation, that this book is a revelation which the Creator of the universe gave us, giving us information which we need to know. You see, it is as simple as that: "God spoke". Well, now, that's the simple phase of it.
