

Which is easier to believe? You find that the critical period in the end increases difficulties, rather than takes them away. Of course you can't understand the Bible if you don't believe in God. If you don't believe that God could interfere in human life you can't understand it, it's an enigma. But if you believe in a God who created the universe, and who can do as He chooses in the world, you will find that the Bible fits exactly, and you will find that the evidence of science, of archaeology, of history, as it comes to light, fits with the statements of the Word of God. You can depend upon the Bible when it speaks of material things: if we can depend upon it in material things, how much more can we depend upon it when it speaks of spiritual things!
