

(10.5) wrote the first Bible, and so on. Well you can talk that way to people who already agree with you and you may strengthen them in their ideas and some others will be carried along by the momentum of the emotions. And you may with that attitude build up a very nice church of Godly, Christian people. But if you do I'll tell you one thing that's going to happen and I've seen it happen. You get these people who are not specially trained, maybe very few of them educated people but they're good, Godly, earnest people and you get them together and you give them the Word of God and you train them and teach them of God, of spiritual things, and they grow in grace and one result that's going to come along with their growing in grace is that some of them are going to grow financially. Because wherever you have good, solid Christian character built, some (11.5) profit in this world's goods. And the result is that ~~XXX~~ before many years you'll find that these people will have children, some of whom will be going to State Universities and to various other places to get a good technical education or a good training for what they want to do in life, and you will find that many of them will come face to face with problems about the Bible - "Did Moses write the Bible?" "Was writing known as early as the time of Moses?" "Did Solomon actually ever live?" "Is the Book of Isaiah actually a combination of books?" And so on - they will get these questions presented to them by men in whom they have confidence, as men of scholarship and men of integrity. I talked to a man just recently. His father is a minister in this town. His mother is a very Godly woman. They are very fine, Christian people and they brought up their son as an earnest, young person. And then he went up to Massachusetts to go to a great institution there to receive a technical training and the institution will require him to take a course in humanity,, and the technical institutions are more and more requiring a little work in humanity along with the technical work, and he got in there and he began to tell me the ideas that were given in that class, just tearing at the foundation of supernatural Christianity. And this fellow, who was such an earnest Christian before he went to college, has his head all in a whirl. And the parents have sent him to talk to various ministers who have patted him on the shoulder and said, "You're a nice young fellow. Just keep your eyes on the Lord and believe the Bible and that's all you need",
