

he come from? Here is Satan. Where does he come from? We get some hints later on from the Bible. Satan had fallen before the fall. He was the greatest of all the angels; yet, he had fallen. ~~Satan~~ Sin came in in a real way before the garden of Eden, but it seems to have been limited, as far as this world is concerned, to Satan. As far as God is concerned, for His own purposes, chose to permit Satan to come and ^{to} tempt Adam and Eve, and so we have Satan tempting them. Our time will not permit us to look at the ^{very} interesting details of how he tempted them, but we see that he did succeed in convincing Eve to listen to him instead of listening to God, and when we listen to human ideas, human reason, human thoughts or to Satanic suggestions instead of God's we are in danger. Now, of course, that does not mean that every human suggestion and human ideas are wrong. Not by any means, because we are all ^{too} prone to read our own ideas into the Bible. But let us see what the Bible says, and let us stand on it, and let us stand on it, even ^{it} ~~is~~ the whole world says it is wrong. ^{until} Let us just wait a little bit, and the world learns a little more. And it will catch up with the Bible on this particular point, whatever the Bible clearly says is definitely true. So, when was Satan lost? Did Satan fall during the 6th day or during the 5th day? or during the fourth day? During the third day or during the second day? During the first day? Or prior to the ~~first day~~ six days of creation. We do not know. ^{Let us not try to} So, let us not try to be dogmatic on that which the Bible has not given us. This we know that Satan fell prior to the time somewhere in the course of 7th day which I suppose is still in existence today in which God has ceased from His creative work, somewhere in the course of that seventh day Satan came before Adam and he had already fallen. And Satan tempted them and they
