

of the suffering of Christ and that through this suffering come joy and happinges to all who believe on His name. Name. Yet this truth may be well illustrated by the parable. To say that it is taught by the parable is going The parable is not a place on which to base ~~the~~ original belief in the truth, but is ~~ax~~ a valuable illustration of it.

The seventh is a very interesting parable about the net which draws in all sorts of things and it is pointed out that at the end of the age there will be a division between the good and the bad, even though they seem to be indiscriminately mixed for a time
