

Our God we thank you for Isaiah and his stand for the truth of God. We thank you that in troubleous times Isa. stood true regardless of difficulties, according to tradition he was martyred. He had terrible times toward the end of his life, but he stood true. We do not know what is ahead, our Father. We do not know in the days immediately ahead whether there is terrible trouble or

We know that before the great tribulation you're people will be taken to heaven and will not have to go through it, but we don't know how many minor tribulations there might be first and some of these can be pretty bad. Because you have told us that no man knows when our Lord will come. But O our God while our Lord tarries help us not to make league with death, not to covenant with that which is ungodly but help us to present your message in a way that will get the hearing as Isaiah did. We ask in Jesus' Name, Amen.
