

volume , describing some other place he ~~excavated~~ excavated the same year and comparatively little of Memphis in it, because Memphis is today simply a pine forest. There is ~~no~~ practically nothing that remains at all that, one of the ~~two~~ two great cities of ancient Egypt. Everybit as great as Thebes of which we have hundreds of great idols remaining today, all that remains of ancient Memphis just two ~~remain~~ remain to remind us of what there was . There is a statue of Ramases II, a statue so long it will reach the length of this room and perhaps half as long again. It lies there on its back and a small spinz that would perhaps go from here to the piano , and that is all that remains of the images ~~and~~ and idols of ancient Memphis. How would Ezekiel ever know that this would happen to Memphis and would not happen to Thebes. How would he know that more ~~than~~ than a thousand years after his time, the Mohammedans would come come and carry out their ideas in that particular place in Egypt . No man could have known. No man could have predicted. No man could have made this specific statement about the future. God spoke through Ezekiel. God gave Ezekiel a knowledge that ~~no~~ no human being should have had , as a sign and a seal that God was speaking through ~~him~~ him, that this was God's word and ~~that~~ he should pay close attention to its teaching on spiritual matters. Now, if that clock wasn't moving so fast, I would turn to Ezekiel ~~26~~ 26 and ~~say~~ say a little about ancient ~~and~~ Tyre and a remarkable prediction of Tyre, that was so strickingly told by Alexander the Great, and of which you can see the remains today. But I think it would be more ~~interesting~~ interesting to give you something from the New Testament of a similar ~~nature~~ nature, and so I am going to g ask you to turn to Luke the 21st chapter, And ~~in~~ in Luke the 21st chapter, we find that our Lord Jesus Christ was telling about the wolves that were coming upon Jerusalem, and in the last half of that 24th verse of the 21st chapter he said , "and He said, ~~Jerusalem~~ Jerusalem shall be trodden down of the Gentiles until the time of the Gentiles be fulfilled." Well, now, this was a prediction which the
