

this Greek study? Here's a difficult sentence in the Greek, I don't understand it." He put on overalls and old clothes and went down the street and he found a laboring man cleaning up some leaves and he steps up to him and he says, "Say would you please help me? The Bible says, "Thou hast hidden these things from the wise and proven and revealed them unto babes." What does this verse mean?"

And people just began to go into such extremes like this that pretty soon the enemies of the Reformation all around were saying, "Why Wittenberg is just falling into absolute nihilism, and if Frederick the Elector doesn't do something to clean this up, we'll have to go in with an army and do it." And Frederick wrote Luther and he said, "Luther, can't you write something that will straighten things out here?" Can't you write something that will get things in order again?" He said, "I wish you would because I don't know what to do," he said. "I don't want to go in there and wreck things there by force; I want people to think things through in the light of the Word, but the way they're knocking things over and upsetting things and going to these extremes," he said, "if I don't do something, someone else will come in." "Well," Luther said, "I wish I could go there and see them myself." And the Elector wrote and he said, "I cannot protect you. If you leave the Wartburg, I can do nothing to protect you. You stay there." Luther wrote back and he said, "I certainly appreciate all you have done to protect me." He said, "I probably would have been burned at the stake three years ago if it wasn't for your efforts, but" he said, "now I thank you for the past, but I want to absolve you from any effort for the future." He said, "I am in the Lord's hands." And he said, "There's work that has to be done in Wittenberg, and," he said,
