

So exegesis is tremendously important. Then the third step is theology. And theology (13 1/4) (record unclear to end - 13 3/4)

Message. 1.3 (record unclear)
(1 3/4)

...Jesus said Abraham saw my day, did he mean the day when he was baptized, did he mean the day when he gave one particular

not at all, he meant his whole life, Abraham saw that ~~his~~ day, and was (2 1/4)

A day is a period, how long is the period

and so you go to the Bible and you read this about the day and say what does Genesis 1 say, it says that there were periods of time and that certain things happened in those periods, and there's a certain definite order in which these things occurred and God intervened at certain places by His great power in a specific way, but as to how long these periods were, the Bible just doesn't say, therefore we should not be dogmatic. We say what we think, but label it this is my opinion so that when people decide ~~for~~ to be different next week or next year, they won't say well the Bible's wrong (3)

it's what the Bible says, not what Dr.

MacRae says.

So exegesis is tremendously important. It is very interesting to notice the attacks on the Bible which are in most of our colleges today,
3 1/2)