

there ever had been a creation. The astronomers recognize ~~that~~ today that all the matter that was once compacted together is going out, and some are trying hard to prove it will come back again but all the evidence available to us at present looks against it.

God created the universe and He gave us a communication, a revelation which we have to interpret as we have to interpret anything in human words because human words are changing things and God stooped to our weakness in using our words to give us His revelation not to tell us facts about science or history but to tell us how we can be saved and how we can grow in grace.

I'm at this point going to stop for about 10 minutes, and if some of you have questions Mr. Alfourth will get them for you and I will be glad to speak about anything you would like to ask me in this connection.
