

evidently is an evangelist and he told how he had had a meeting in the capital of Nicaragua (Managua (?)) a very successful meeting, and the Protestant ministers there had asked him to come back, and he said he had applied to the Communist government for permission and had a letter from them stating that he would have permission to come back, and the ministers had rented the big stadium for the ~~purpose of the meetings~~ and he went down and he said when he got off the plane he immediately was seized by four soldiers who told him that he must get right back on the plane again and he showed them his letter from the government, that he could hold the meetings there and everything, ~~the~~ and they said, "Well, the new law was passed last week and Protestant ~~or Protestant~~ evangelistic meetings are absolutely forbidden." He said they ~~forced~~ forced him to get back on to the plane and come back. The picture that he gave of conditions in Nicaragua was very moving and I just wished everybody in the ~~the~~ United States could have seen it and gotten a real idea of what the situation is. They said these refugees had very little to eat and no possibility of earning anything, and they were ~~promised~~ these two men were representing an organization called "Feeding the Hungry" in Oklahoma City and asked people to phone their 800 number or to send gifts for this purpose.
