

understand and they seem contradictory to us, God is one God. There is ~~only~~ only one ~~god~~ God. And yet God is three persons. You and I can't be three different persons, and at the same time only one. (But I don't think that one and three is the same kind of one and three, like a hold one and three matches; it is one and three in a more subtle --I agree it's both one and three in some manner, ...I don't agree that one can ever be three. I have one marble and three marbles and say that here is identical, it's a more subtle that one and three can be ...it doesn't seem to me to be the same contradiction there. It's something that we don't understand how the responsibility or attributes or the ~~god~~ godliness, how this is clearly divided,)x It's the same with the ~~xxx~~ person of Christ. He's fully God. He keeps x matter together . He can hold the stars in their orbits. All things exists by works of Him. The universe would go to pieces if x it weren't for Christ. He's the second person of the ~~trinity~~ trinity, and at the same time He was a baby crying for His milk, a helpless ... both are true. He says, Not my will, but thine be done. He was a human being with weakness of flesh, yet without sin. How can He be both of them. But they are both taught, and I accept them. (Yes, I can accept that too, It doesn't ~~xxx~~) That's a subjective matter, what seems to be the bigger problem. Well, to me they are both insoluble, both of them. But I will ^{the day when they seem perfectly simple.} someday see/~~the-clearly~~. ~~They~~ There are many things that seem perfectly simple to us today, that in the middle ages would seem absolutely incomprehensible. You read in the scripture that two men will ~~xxx~~ be working in the field, the one will be taken and the other left. Two men will be ~~xxx~~ sleeping in the same bed, one will be taken ~~xxx~~ and the other left. Well, when will there be two men in the field working and two men sleeping at the same time. unless they were sick and then they would hardly be the same thing . They didn't have artificial ~~xxx~~ lights like we have --in that time they couldn't hardly conceive as such ~~xxx~~ thing as artificial lights like we have that makes you able to work around the clock . And when it is nightx they would be
