

2. Statements as to precise parts of P, giving correct material from a far earlier period.

W. F. Albright, in his 1955 revision of the article, "Recent Discoveries in Bible Lands," says that Genesis 10 "stands absolutely alone in ancient literature" and concludes that "The Table of Nations remains an astonishingly accurate document." (Young's Analytical Concordance to the Bible, p. 30 cited by J. P. Free in "Archaeology and Accuracy of Scripture", Bib Sac, July, 1956, page 215)

The Biblical record of the route of the Exodus is now acknowledged to be "perfectly sound topographically" by Albright in From the Stone Age to Christianity, 1940, p. 194. Cited by J. P. Free, Bib Sac July, 1956, p. 220

Regarding the Levitical offerings and their parallels in the Ugaritic materials, Burrows wrote: "Several of the terms employed in the Hebrew Old Testament have appeared in the Ras Shamra tablets, for example, ~~the Ras Shamra tablets~~ the burnt offering, the whole burnt offering, the guilt offering, and the peace offering." (What Mean These Stones, p. 234)
