Dr. David Moberg
Bethel College
St. Paul 1, Minn.

Dear Dr. Moberg:

Dr. Hartzler informs me that I should send the archeology column to you and should try to get it to you before July 6. I enclose it herewith, and trust that it will reach you in ample time.

You have taken on an interesting but rather demanding task in assuming the editorship of the Journal and I want to join my thanks with those of the other members of the Society and to express my appreciation of your willingness to perform this task for the organization. Having been editor of my college paper during my senior year I am acutely aware of the amount of effort that goes into reading proof and arranging matters properly, and know the embarrassment that can so easily arise when something slips through, in spite of one's best efforts. Your willingness to perform the task deserves the thanks of all the members.

When I last saw you you were starting for a convention in Louisville or in that general region. I trust that you had an interesting time there and learned facts that can be used in the service of our wonderful Saviour.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Allan A. MacRae
President
