

these theories are quite incomplete without recognition of ^a ~~great thinking, willing, being~~

~~xxx~~ a great ^B being who thinks and wills, who has created ³ and controls ¹ the

² universe, ⁴ it

Man knows in his heart that there is a great Creator. It is only when we try to put Him out of our mind that doubts arise. It is when we are determined to go on into the direction of our own selfish appetites and desires that we cease to recognize Him. Deep in our hearts everyone of us knows that He is there. And if there is such a great God, it would be strange indeed if He did not in some way reveal himself to us.

