

one-tenth as great as the difference between going to a sound seminary, and going to an unsound seminary, regardless of its denominational viewpoint.

There is a great deal of Modernism in the Lutheran churches, as there is in the Presbyterian bodies. There are, of course, ^{and} certain Presbyterian groups (such as the Bible Presbyterian ~~denomination~~, to which I belong) and certain Lutheran groups which are entirely free from Modernism.