

which between them would cover most sky. If a comet appeared he would immediately recognize it.