

- false to believe that God's power is absent from things, all things are under His righteous government. If His power didn't extend to all something else must be over it.
- confidence in God's providence is necessary for all relationships to Him. We are utterly responsible to Him.