Angeles last week but it was no visitation for Los Angeles. Most of them didn't know I was there. It did not bring an effect upon them. It wouldn't be this word at all. The Lord will visit it means He will bring a great change to it. He'll either take Tyre and reduce it from its great power down or He takes it from a low position and builds it up, and so here doubtless we have it, Tyre is reduced and wrecked, destroyed by the Chaldeans. When the Lord visits it, it is built up again, and so Tyre is built up after seventy years but Tyre does not look to the Lord then. She returns to her hire and commits fornication with all the kingdoms of the world upon the face of the earth. Instead of setting her out, praising God for her deliverance, and setting out again to be a great successful, setting out to be a force for doing His will, they are simply reestablishing themselves in their own might. It is very similar to the expression which they had on automobiles and houses during the war, "There'll always be an England." Now why on earth should there always be an England? It's the great feeling of the people, "even though we are wrecked, even though we are devastated, we're going to rise from the ashes and be greater than ever." But that's not what the Lord says. The Lord says if you are true to Him you shall rise and be powerful, if you are true to Him He will give you blessing, if you are willing to serve Him He will use you for His purposes but He doesn't say that you have a right to say that you are anything in yourself and that there will always be whatever you are. You may be destroyed, you may be utterly wrecked. You cannot say what the Lord's will may be in it and it is only if you are serving Him and He has purpose in it that you can be sure what the future is going to be.

That is a spirit which the Lord rebukes, that spirit of saying, "Oh, well, we're a great people. No matter what happens we're going to continue to be proud of it. Here they are going to be given another chance. Britain was practically
