

From some view there is a third title which should be included , perhaps even more important in some ways which comes under this head, but htis now we are swit hning our attention to the east. W have traced trought and we have gone ~~to~~ really west to east and we started with Italy the monasticism and then we went to the Celtic Church and now we are going over to the East and in the east it is importanti to notice the eastern churhc was fully half the church and because the emperoreess at this time conquered Italy and so he became , his actions and activities became a great importance in the churn. Now I should mention that Justinian the First was the son of Justin the I and he only reigned nine years. from 518-27 and so is not nealry important as Justinian and who reigned from 527-65. But Justin laid the foundation for the work of his successor and Justin was a man who was a man a very great admirer of the creed of Chalcedon and a great admirer of the fourth eucemical assembly and he felt very friendly towasd the bishop of Rome who had so much to do with the establishment with that particular council and who sttood by its teachings . ~~But~~ Justinian who succeeded him wanted so far predecessor stand , the council of chalcedon represent his beliefs and he was orthodox and stood ~~for~~ for the faith but he had s a section in which monophysitism was bery storng and in addition to that he had an emperor who favored the monophysites and that was the greatest influence to him in this regard. Justinian was an abel man and a man who organized an army and the Eastern empire reconquerored Africa from the Vandall and reconquerored Italy from the Ostrogoths and he was a man who was interested in Law and Justinian court of Law has been famous ever since and great codification of Roman law he was a great and powerful and ~~very~~ successful emperor and he interested himself only in civil affairs he probalby ~~is~~ would be very highly reagerded , hs is highly regarded still but it is to some extednt ^{a stain upon it} that he tried to do the same thing for religious affairs and doing it he was hampered by the influence of his ~~lax~~ wife and influence she is generally spoken of as a woman of great abiltiy and great beauty ~~at~~ but quite unprinciple, while storeis about her
