

That can be put on any proper name, any name that is of a place or a direction. It's - ordinarily you don't decline proper name, of course, but you can put that ... on it.

Well, now, in the suggestion I perhaps wouldn't have assigned this. I didn't want to take a great deal of time here as Dr. Harris has already gone over this material, because he would have brought out a good dealing with you and I haven't heard of any..(8).. and I might give much the same thing but express it quite differently and it might sound like a different viewpoint, which might be of course, but it might not be.
