

- 298 63:15 the ground of the relationship
- 16 not so much new blessings and return of old.
- 17 ground of relationship
- 18
- 299 63:19 entirelyly ground - they are His people
- 64:1-5 analysis given
- 300 64:5 comes nearest to being real confession of sin, but no real repentance
- 6-7 Opposite of saying we are so wicked we don't deserve anything
- 301 64:6-7 two possible interpretations. Second fits context better
- 302/3 Context requires interpretation: this is a bad situation rather than this is our confession.
- 302/4 64:8 Description of a bad situation
- 9 The thing they want
- 302/10 10-11 How reconcile with Isa's authorship?
- 303 Discussion of authorship and time of prediction
- Deals with a future day. Asking for physical blessings.
- 303/10 Illustration of man who asked how many Isaiah's there were.
- 304/2 64:10-11
- 304/3 12 Implication: the relationship and past deeds of God is the basis on which this prayer is made.
- 304/5 65:1-2
- 305 65:2 I have spread out my hands all the day . . . Means, I have asked them to come back, to repent; or, spread out in punishment. Which? Plea to return rather than threat of punishment
- 305/7 65:3
- 305/8
- 306 65:3-4 Religious impurity; hypocrisy
- 5 Attitude of boasting over one's own holiness -- Pharisaic act. Not all Pharisees were hypocrites; many sincere
- 306/10
- 307/1-4 Meaning of parable of Pharisees and Publican
- 65:5 Discussion on what kind of people are presented here
- 308 Are there three groups of people in vs. 3-5?
- 308/8 65:6
- 309 65:7 Referring to the whole people
- 309/5 65:8
- 310 65:9-10 Material blessings are coming
- 65:12
- 310/6 65:13-16 "ye shall be hungry" - Who is the "ye"? Prayer represents nation as a whole
- 311 65:13-14
- 15 "leave your name for a curse". Exegesis of "leave", and "curse"
- 312 65:15-16 Does this indicate the gospel dispensation? question
- 313 Difficulty of making it figurative
- 65:17-25 Assurance that what the prayer has asked for will be granted
- ch. 65-66 The future situation ^{viewed} in relation to the prayer.