

No. 5. cont'd

then you will say, /we have Christianity, and we have all these which nobody ~~is~~ says finds out out (12.50) no body has dreamed of. But we look, and pick a verse here and a verse there, and a verse here then say, look, all these talk about Christ, isn't this wonderful? ~~Yes~~ Well the same thing

~~we~~ can't ~~we~~ say/about ~~the same thing~~ Mohammed or Buddah/or somebody else? Why can't somebody find communism taught there. There is a lot of people who calim things in the Bible. And they say you can find anything that you want. Well,

I say you can, if you use it a sort of approach to it. You can find anything ~~in~~ in any book/ ~~you~~ that you want. But ~~we~~ feel that we should find a solid approach to it which can say, this we can be sure of its's definitely taught there.

This is what it has, and no body honestly deny this. And then I say ~~and~~ we go (11.80) and we take this as absolutely clear to any honest person, and then we go beyond that, say what additional help can I get from what I know from study of other passages, and then we go on and we say now when you compare that with what we get from the New Testament, does it contradict the New Testament or does it fit with the New Testament? And if we find that it fits with the New Testament, (11.45) then certainly we are justified in saying that we can go further and find that each of them help us interprete the other, and understand the other better, and therefore we find truth and meaning implicit in it from the beginning which I ~~is~~ ^{may} now clear and explicit to us _____ (11.10)

We are not reading them into it. But we are seeing them there which would not have been obvious to ~~us and to~~ ^{therefore} people. And ~~that~~ I feel that the solid approach to it that gives us a basis we can say here is something which an honest person must find certain things ~~that~~ in, not that we come to it with a necessary approach. Someone else can have different ones/ _____ (10.75) anything ^a here is to say, you want out of it. I feel that the solid approach ~~is~~ what is here that the person in Isaiah ~~is~~ ~~is~~ would say would find it _____ (10.78) that he should find _____. Is there any question? Then what is there that in the light of further biblical writing ~~comes clear~~ becomes clear ~~to us~~
