wounded for our ~~sins~~ transgressions, He was ~~wounded~~^{bruised} for our ~~iniquity~~ iniquity, ~~for~~ the chastisement of our ~~sins~~^{upon him} peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed. And Peter specifically quotes this, and this is the description of the atonement. When Peter says, He bore our sins, that is not _____ (1.00)
 The previous ^{one} is not speaking ~~of~~ about atonement, it is speaking about healing, but about the healing that Jesus did when he was here. Yes, Mr. Gregory?

There is of course a relationship, but I don't think it's an explicit relationship. John ~~of~~ was one who inquired, one who began to lose his confidence.
 This was one. He knew this was the one originally. He said, Behold the lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world. But then when things went wrong, and John was cast into prison, he began to wonder if he was mistaken.

_____ inquired about him, and it has some similarities^{y to this} but it's _____ different. I don't think it should really _____ exactly _____.

Well, this statement here is definitely _____ (14.4) I don't know of any others, ~~maybe~~ statements, maybe others, I do not recall. No, no, I think he is/showing a miraculous call. ^{ja ja ja} ja, ja, ja, Are you the one that is to come, ~~or~~ should we, or must we look for another^s till we see what happens?

See the evidence^s of the miraculous power of God. How's that? Certainly _____ _____ Raised from the dead to life. Of course, others healed, yes, ~~other~~ healed is common. I talked to a German doctor who was with me at American Red Cross at the end of the ~~the~~ First ~~World~~ World War going across the near east. They were making a trip to Europe, and every^p place they stopped they were trying to _____ this doctor (13.25) trying to get some help from this doctor. They were moving along, and they did not have ~~to~~ time to stop at ~~a~~ various places. So, yet, they couldn't get to run off, so he said, ~~he~~ he took some bottles and he put a little of ^{colored} water, and a little bit of
