

it would be very helpful to do this ..but of course , little words like this are hard to find. So Brown, Driver and Briggs are ..I have pleased ..There is a purpose which God has made before he says- said the Word he had already made plans . This word goes forth as part of His accomplished fact. The word cannot be veiced- voided until or returned empty until it has done what he has planned that it should do. Now, there , again, the question is connective.

Until it has done what I have pleased., and it has prospered in the thing whereto I have sent.x it, or until it has done what I havepleased x so that it will prosper per what I have sent it for , I am inclined ~~to think~~ to think that the latter is a parallel, and perhaps...Well, I don't know. They are both possible. It is rather hard to make a d-ecisioj- decision, until it has done what I have pleased and it has prospered or until it has done what I please so that the ~~pru~~ purpose for which I send it will prosper. They are x both possibilities. I am not sure that we can decide <sup>with</sup> ~~for~~-certainty.I am inclined to think that the ~~at~~ x latter would be ~~parallale~~ x ~~paria-~~ x ~~prallelx~~ Something is going to happen, it is a n illustration of what will happen. God's word will not return wi hout accomplishing its x purpose. Here is an illustration of a particular wordx...God's Word will always accomplish. whatever it is sent forth to do. God gives a wonderful call . Whoever can come will drink of the water of life x freely. His Word will not return unto Him void but it will accomplish the purpose for which it is x sent --here is an extended example of it. He has been in the previous chapters giving instance after x instance that Israel is going to ~~at~~ x return from exile, and now he says not merely are they going to ~~return~~, return, x they ~~at~~ are going to x forth with gladness. But, he says , they are going ~~to~~ to be led with- in peace. It isn't a <sup>fighting expedition. It isn't a grt difficulty</sup> tremendous x job that ~~Israel-~~ Israel. It can ver well be taken ~~as~~ as a specific reference to the fulfillment of the promise that was given to before, which <sup>promise</sup> ~~prophecy~~ is , however, in this fulfillment ~~is-~~ is not merely that which the whole chapter is leading up to. <sup>This is going to happen,</sup> I think it is rather an illustration of
