I might forget later on in the hour, if I did not think of mentioning now, but we assigned the rest of this chapter today. Then I think we ought to go to some other sections of Isaiah. We have looked Isaiah 40: and 56. We looked over chapter 53. Last semester, and 55 ... I would think that Dr. Kim would have a suggestion on this passage, and it would be very interesting to look into them together. Did you have one in mind? Let us go on to the next verse. There are very many interesting passages here and ... I thought you might have a good suggestion. Mr. Lee, the next. Yes, make your pinnacles and your battlements... what stone is this _____ (katcol) is, we do not know. B.D.B. makes a suggestion of ruby. Now, this katcol _____. What is the word _____ (skull) again? Do you recall? It seems to me that the word is very much ... maybe we will think about it later. It might be from that connection, and any way we will look into it later on. At any rate, ~~R.B.d~~ B.D.B. suggests ruby for this as a possibility of it. And he suggests the pinnacles and battlements are ... and then going on... I do not know the nature of the stone, but the word seems to be related to the word which means ~~ruby~~ -- fiery or going... It is ~~v-e~~ very hard when you have ~~...~~ it is references to the special things like trees.. stones or animals, and then/taken to another part of the world where it may differ, so it is very hard to ... to be sure what particular stone or animals ~~and especially you~~ unless when you have ~~stone~~ a good deal of references so that at least these are pictures of the beauty and the brilliance and the strength of what of the new Zion that He is going to build. I am sure that there will be many there who hoped ~~for the~~ that this is the way the second temple is going to be. And then when it did not turn this way, then they noticed that this after all was ... the fulfillment of the 53, and the 53 has ~~yet~~ not yet been fulfilled. So, that, they could see that they could look forward to something.
