

Heb. Syn. #68

and ... being quiet in the face of the utterly wicked and utterly malicious false charges. Yes? (Q)

Heb. Syn. #69

But of course this is simply not the case of a sheep that is going to be injured.

This is just a sheep that is going to have its wool taken off. And the sheep before its shearer is ... this is the sheep that faces with sharp scissors and they are going to cut ~~off~~ the wool off, and they^{it} will not say ~~xxx~~ anything.

I ~~do not~~ have not had great deal of experience with sheep. What I have had is that they really made an awful racket... I ~~do~~ do not think that this is saying that this is a typical sheep. But this is ~~xxx~~ like a sheep which ^{would be} ~~is~~ quiet before its shearers. The sheep which is helpless before its shearers, and you would expect to make a racket, and makes^a a big fuss over it before you can take it. But this is the sheep that keep quiet. It shows the strange^{ness} of his ... of what he did. Faced there with false and malicious charge^s, he did not answer, and they have given him more than half a chance to bring with him to prove it to them. He is violent. He is just. Unnatural thing for him to do. It is just the divine power ~~that made him to do it~~ to do it, as would be a sheep that stands before her shearers, ready to cut it through, and yet it says nothing and be quiet. And whenever I have been out where they cut wool off ~~by~~ the sheep before the shearers, you can hear the ... half a mile away. Yes, Mr. QueK? Like a sheep, if the sheep has ~~done~~ been ~~done~~, or is quiet, I think this ~~is~~ could be an imperfect or participle, Like a sheep which, probably, a continuous action. I think _____ this is either a perfect or participle. Like a sheep, probably a continuous action, which ~~xxx~~ is quiet. If a sheep would do such a thing....
