

dust of the ground. Neither of them says that ~~th~~ he molded him out of clay with His hands. That's the way that enemies of the Scripture take passages out of it and twist them, and distort them in order to lead people to think that the Bible is something other than it is. I couldn't help thinking last night, as I heard Dr. McIntire give that marvelous address about his experiences last week. I couldn't help thinking, suppose that there was another world exactly like this one, just exactly in every regard like this one except that it was about 150 to 200 years behind this one. In other ~~me~~ words, that the other world was just exactly what this ~~one~~ one was 150 years ago, exactly in every regard. And suppose that someone from that world were to hear the talk that Dr. McIntire gave last night. Now Lewis and Clark might have just returned from their expedition - which they made about 150 years ago when they left the East coast here and went clear out to the Pacific ocean and came back, and it took them about a year and a half to do it. And suppose that man heard Dr. McIntire say that he left here Monday night, and, in spite of ~~z~~ all the difficulties he described he was in Denver Tuesday, and he left Denver Tuesday night and was in Los Angeles Wednesday, and he went from Los Angeles up to Seattle, and then back to Los Angeles, ~~xxxxxx~~ and then the day before yesterday, in the morning, he was in Los Angeles in the morning, and he got a plane for Dallas, and instead of getting <sup>out</sup> ~~off~~ at Dallas he just stayed on and got to Philadelphia. Well now a man 150 years ago hearing something like that would say, "That utter delirium! ~~///~~ What nonsense! Why it takes months to go out to there. How could someone start in Los Angeles ~~xxxx~~ in the morning and be here at night? What utter nonsense!" But to us it's just matter of fact. We don't even marvel at it anymore because there are principles and possibilities that God has created in His universe that men 150 years ago never dreamed of. And let me tell you, the things that man has discovered of God's creation are not a fraction of what there is in God's creation that man has never dreamed of yet.
