

responders, and two others who could participate in the discussion. Then it was expected that the other ^{present} people would simply listen or could, if they wished, turn in written questions to the participants. As it worked out in many of the groups there was ~~some~~ considerable participation of ~~(?)~~ by ~~(?)~~ those who were not on the platform, ^{largely} ~~although~~ in this a good deal depended ^{upon} ~~upon~~ the amount of time available and also upon the inclination of the particular ~~the~~ moderator.